

predefined function- contains C code that that has already benn written printf() library function editor -> compiler -> linker if compiler does not find any errors produces obhject file gcc -o path>